No Poverty SDG1	To eradicate extreme poverty for all people everywhere. To implement appropriate social protection systems and measures. To ensure that all men and women have equal rights to economic resources, as well as access to basic services.	Now casting suggested that 8.4 percent of the world's population, or as many as 670 million people, could still be living in intense poverty. This setback effectively erased around three years of progress in poverty alleviation. Reduction in poverty leads to increased economic growth as more people have access to resources and can contribute to the economy. Reduced poverty means more children can attend school, leading to higher literacy rates and better educational outcomes.	IDF foundation event	Click Here
Zero Hunger SDG2	To aim to end all forms of hunger and malnutrition by 2030, making sure all people—especially children—have sufficient and nutritious food all year.	Addressing hunger requires international cooperation, partnerships, and investments to ensure food security and sustainable agriculture practices worldwide. Achieving SDG 2 not only addresses immediate food needs but also promotes long-term sustainability, health, and prosperity for current and future generations.	Food Distribution by Management	Click here
Good Health And Well Being SDG3	To addresses all major health priorities: reproductive, maternal, new-born, child and adolescent health; communicative and non-communicative diseases; universal health coverage; and access for all to safe, efficient, quality and affordable medicines and vaccines.	Universal health coverage will be integral to achieving SDG 3, ending poverty and reducing inequalities. Emerging global health priorities not explicitly included in the SDGs, including antimicrobial resistance, also demand action. But the world is off-track to achieve the health-related SDGs.	Health & Fitness Initiatives	Click here
